Luke 24:1-12

Easter is the day
death died.

Death is hideous and frightening and cruel and unusual. It is not the way life is supposed to be... It has been said that all the wars and plagues have never raised the death toll—it has always been one for each and every person. Yet we seem far less prepared for it than our ancestors. – Timothy Keller

Now it was Mary Magdalene and Joanna and Mary the mother of James and the other women with them who told these things to the apostles, but these words seemed to them an idle tale, and they did not believe them.

Everybody has got to die, but I have always believed an exception would be made in
my case.— William Saroyan
